

Eduardo BARREDO CAPELOT

Director, Methodology; Dissemination; Cooperation in the European Statistical System, Eurostat

Eduardo Barredo Capelot has Academic degrees in Economics and Geography by the Universities of Madrid and London respectively, and postgraduate studies at the College of Europe, in Bruges. He has developed most of his professional career in Eurostat, where he is currently the Director of 'Methodology; Dissemination; Cooperation in the European Statistical System'. He has worked in the areas of external trade and balance of payments statistics (also at the IMF), national accounts and government finance statistics, and business statistics.